TOOK TOO MUCH CORN

So the Farmer Presented Him
With a Bullet.

A SHANTYBOAT MAN'S LOOK

He is Seen by the Owner of a Cornfield and Gets a Pistol Bullet in His Groin.
May Possibly Prove Fatal—Keeping It Dark.

Somewhere along the river shore there lies a man in a shanty boat, and he suffers from a bullet wound that may prove fatal. Who he is cannot be learned as he is simply paying the penalty for a crime and his friends are keeping it quiet for fear the police court may want him should he recover.

For several weeks Mr. Oliver, who is in charge of the Pusey farm, just across the river from the local wharf, has been bothered by people who steal his corn. Whoever they are it is evident that they are without the slightest spark of conscience as an ordinary thief would surely sympathize with the farmers in their hard luck, and especially in the corn line. Recently the raids upon the cornfield have proven numerous, and upon more than one occasion Oliver has seen the thieves come across the river and upon their return disappear inside shanty-boats below the ice breakers. He could not learn their names and chose the only method left by which he could protect his valuable property. He laid for the miscreants and one night fired several shots at them, so it is said. This frightened the gang away for a while, but the scare didn't last long and in a few nights they returned and proceeded to pluck the ears of corn as if they were sole owners of the place. This time the owner used a revolver and with better effect. His aim was true and a loud cry was followed by great excitement among the crowd. The companions of the wounded man got him across the river into a shanty boat and there he now lies with a bullet in his groin and the chances for his recovery very slim. Oliver learned of the condition of the man, but could not learn who he was. He has not been troubled by night visitors since the last shooting.

THAT CONTRACT.

A Foreman of the Steubenville Pottery
Tells His Story.

It is now given out that the pottery alien contract labor case which has attracted so much attention here the past few days, was up before the Brotherhood of Potters at the convention held in East Liverpool in July, but what action was taken is not known, though it was following this convention that Immigrant Inspector H. E. Alexander paid his first visit to this city and also visited East Liverpool and conferred with President Hughes. Alexander gave out that his visit was to look up violations of the contract labor law among the potteries. Bourne and the potters here will not say anything, but intimate that the matter is straight and the people have but to await developments, which will surely come out at the trial or before. The only excuse given so far, which if true will let the pottery company out, is given by Thomas Mechlin, boss of the dishmaking department and a cousin of Bourne, who states that Bourne wrote to him repeatedly to get him a job here and at last he did get him a job and sent him $216 of his own drawn from the bank to bring him and his wife over, but after he got here he became dissatisfied and because the company would not furnish him transportation back to England he reported the matter to the potter's union and gave out that he came here under contract to work for the pottery company.—Steubenville Gazette.

A special from Steubenville to the Cleveland Leader says that the suit against the pottery company, charging them with breaking the contract labor law, is nothing more than a Democratic scheme to cause the concern loss and trouble.

POTTERS IN TRENTON

Are Talking of Another Reduction in Wages.

A special from Trenton this morning says:
"A conference between the pottery manufacturers and their employees was held today in their workshops. The manufacturers prepared statements showing to the men that it would be impossible to continue under the new tariff at the prices to which competition with England would bring the goods. None of the manufacturers asked directly that a further reduction be accepted, but the implied meaning of the conference was to this end. The men inquired as to the necessity of a reduction now, when there was no raise under the McKinley tariff, and the manufacturers said the reduction of the prices to importers would equal the reduction in the tariff, and American goods must be made on a lower scale if such is done. The men claim their present wages are but little higher than laborers, and if laborers' wages are to be paid to skilled men it would be better for the potters to seek a healthier calling. The conference is said to be a preliminary step to the manufacturers asking the acceptance of a further reduction of 74 per cent in addition to the 124 per cent cut under which the men are now working. It is believed if the manufacturers press this reduction, they will be accused of breaking faith on the agreement made at Washington. The proposed reduction will be reported to Senator Smith, and he will be asked to prevent an increase in the figures in the tariff bill, which he proposes to do in December."

NOW FOR SPORT.

The Y. M. C. A. Athletic Association in Charge of a New Park.

The East End ball park has been leased to the Y. M. C. A. Athletic association newly organized, and improvements on it were begun today. There will be a base ball and foot ball ground, one-fourth mile bicycle track and in the winter it will be flooded for a skating park. A foot ball club with about 50 members, of which the principals are J. T. Carey, Mr. King, A. Ross and A. E. Breneman, of the Ohio state university, has been organized and a base ball club, composed of the members, will begin practice tonight for a game soon. The club is composed of association boys and Turners and each club has four paid players. Next year they expect to have several league players and a team not to be beaten. The park will be arranged on the plan of the Pastime park, at Canton, although it is larger. The main entrance will be alongside the school house and a big grandstand will be built while a high board fence will surround the grounds. All the work necessary to complete the improvements is expected to be done by September 20.

With such a park the association will have an attraction that will soon become famous for miles around.

THEY ORGANIZED.

Doctors' Association is Now a Reality.
The Officers.

The physicians of the city met yesterday afternoon and completed their organization, exclusive news of which was given in the NEWS REVIEW some weeks ago.

The following officers were elected: President, Dr. W. R. Clark; vice president, Dr. L. O. Williams; secretary and treasurer, Dr. W. T. Norris. A constitution and by laws were adopted and the organization started off with almost every doctor in the city on its membership roll. It is a branch of the Ohio Valley Medical association, and is for the benefit and protection of the local fraternity. Another meeting will be held in about two weeks.

BURIED WITH HONOR.

The Remains of Attorney Frost Laid to Rest.

New Lisbon, Aug. 31—A great crowd attended the funeral of the late H. E. Frost, this afternoon, East Liverpool being well represented in attorneys and Odd Fellows. The services were impressive, and did nothing more than honor the man who lay so still in the casket, and but a few days ago possessed so many excellent qualities.

Settled the Case.

In the case of George Peach versus Hyman Browarsky to have been tried before Squire Travis this morning, the plaintiff said he would ask for a jury. This frightened Hyman and he decided to pay the bill, $4.40.

The case of Hyman Barnett versus Browarsky was to have been tried this afternoon, but was postponed until Monday, owing to A. H. Clark being in New Lisbon. Barnett's mother was in the city today and said that Hyman came to Pittsburgh and offered her $20 to settle the case. She came down last night, and upon hearing the state of affairs she called on Browarsky and proceeded to give him such a calling down as he has not had in years. The case will accordingly be tried.

Home From the East.

Captain and Mrs. Harry Palmer who have been attending the encampment of the Pennsylvania guard at Gettysburg, and later visiting at the range, Mt. Gretna, are expected home tomorrow evening. Captain Palmer made a splendid score for his regiment.

TOMORROW WILL TELL

What Treasurer Martin's Sureties
Have Done.

NOTHING GIVEN OUT TODAY

But a Wellsville Story Says the Deficit
Will Not be More Than $3,000—The Commissioners Will Get the Report
Very Soon.

At last it seems that the trouble in the office of the county treasurer will be made public, and the responsibility for any wrong doing located where it justly belongs.

The bondsmen, who seem to be interested more than any others, unless it be the principle parties, have been meeting this week, the sessions being held in Wellsville. Nothing could be obtained from anyone connected with the matter, all keeping what they knew to themselves. At New Lisbon no more was known than in this city, but rumors about the court house connected Ex-Treasurer Kepner, as was prophesied when the question was broached months ago. At Wellsville it was stated last night on the authority of a bondsman that the deficit of Treasurer Martin would not exceed $3,000. The remainder of the missing funds is said to be accounted for by the connection of the official who was in office before him.

Judge Wells, one of the bondsmen returned to New Lisbon this morning from the Wellsville meeting, and was seen a few minutes after his arrival by a NEWS REVIEW correspondent. He had nothing to say, further than that the investigation was complete, and a report had been decided upon. This he would submit to the commissioners this morning and they would likely act upon it during the day, and something definite could be made public this afternoon or evening. Even this might be delayed by the funeral of the late H. E. Frost.

This afternoon at 2:30 o'clock the NEWS REVIEW correspondent in New Lisbon telephoned that there was no new move as yet. The commissioners had been questioned but knew nothing of any report. They had not been informed of the action of the bondsmen, and had done nothing. This was due to the fact that so many persons including county officials are attending the Frost funeral. It is likely that the whole matter will be brought forward tomorrow, and the public made conversant with all the details of the past few months.

OLDEST IN THE COUNTRY.

Isaac Walters, of This City, is the Pioneer Canal Boatman.

East Liverpool has the honor of numbering among its residents the oldest canal boatman in the United States. He is Isaac Walters, of Third Street and is 81 years of age.

When only 16 years of age, in 1829, Mr. Walters began his career as driver of a boat on the Pennsylvania canal. He stuck to the business with the desire to some day become possessor of a boat of his own, and by hard work and perseverance he won the prize for which his ambition urged him on. He followed canal boating until 1873 and a few years previous to that became owner of the Champion, a big boat on the Ohio canal. Some of Mr. Walters' experiences are interesting and show the humorous as well as serious side of a canal boat driver's life. Mr. Walters attended the reunion of old canal boatmen held at Pittsburgh, Wednesday, and when seen at the St. James hotel by a Chronicle Telegraph reporter yesterday he was on his way home. He talked freely of the proposed new canal and said among other things:

"I hope they will build that canal. It will be the best thing western Pennsylvania ever had, to link Pittsburgh and the lakes together. I will never see it but I know it will be built."

Badly Injured.

John, the three year old son of Albert Peterson, of Sixth street, had a narrow escape from death yesterday. He was playing with a companion when the latter struck him on the head with a hammer. Young Peterson was badly but not seriously injured but not so much as would have been had the hammer struck an inch further toward the center of the scalp than it did. Such a blow would have resulted in instant death.

A False Alarm.

An alarm from patrol box No. 164 called out the fire department this morning and a run was made to the Surles brickyard. The alarm box is located at the Knowles, Taylor &

Knowles office, but someone saw Mr. Surles using the hose on a quantity of brick and thought there was a fire there. The alarm was caused by one of the workmen at the pottery taking suddenly ill, and in an effort to ring up the patrol someone called out the fire department also.

COUNTY COURTS.

An Interesting Budget of News From New Lisbon.

NEW LISBON, Aug. 30—The will of Elizabeth Galbreath, late of Fairfield township was presented and admitted to probate today and Erwin Caldwell appointed executor with $2,000 bond. Letters of guardianship on the person and estate of Emma Smith, of Salem township, were granted Alfred Brantingham with $2,000 bond. The will of the late Ellison Manley, of East Liverpool, was also admitted to probate. The guardianship of Carl Brunner, of Salem, who has been confined in the Cleveland asylum for several months was terminated today he being restored to reason.

Will R. Thomas secured a license today to wed Miss Laura A. Hollinger.

An Unjust Comparison.

"Henry!"
"Yes, your excellency!"
"I notice that in Ohio the Columbian county Democratic convention passed a resolution denouncing Senator Brice as a traitor, and calling him the Judas of the national Democracy."

"Yes, your excellency. It was the correct treatment of one of your excellency's foes."

"Well, Henry, I think the resolution does Senator Brice an injustice."

"Indeed!"
"Yes, Henry, I'll bet a watermelon that Senator Brice made more than 30 pieces of silver out of his treachery."
—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph.

Good Words For Mercer.

President Wagner, of Washington, charges clubs with tampering with Pitcher Mercer. He claims that he was offered $5,000 for the release of that pitcher by Cleveland, but said he would not take $10,000.—Boston Herald.

The Washington team would have lost the game yesterday had not Mercer played his best. To him the credit of the victory belongs.

General Observation.

Inquiry about the city shows that there will be a general observance of Labor Day. Some of the potteries will be closed during the entire day, and others will do no work after dinner. It is thought that a great many business houses will be closed in the afternoon, and the majority of the people will go to East End where they can enjoy the sports.

Ignored the Congressman.

The fact that the county Democratic convention had nothing to say about Doctor Kirk is being commented upon all over the city. Whether it was accidental or premeditated no man telleth, but there is room for general belief that it was a deeply laid plot well carried out.

Will Not Leave the Valley.

The statement is made that the Ironside tin plant may be moved to New Lisbon, but the story is denied by persons in this city who should know. The company have no desire to leave their present location, and will stay as near the Ohio valley as possible.

Died of Dropsy.

The 13-year-old daughter of William Robinson died this morning at her home near the railroad. The cause of death was dropsy. Funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, but it has been decided that interment will be in Spring Grove cemetery.

Kilnmen Will Meet.

The kilnmen will hold their final meeting tonight to arrange for the celebration of Labor Day and the turnout of the members of local union No. 9. They want a full turnout both at the meeting and on Monday as they have an eye on that prize flag.

Closed the Pottery.

A rumor was circulated in the city today that Baum's pottery in Wellsville was almost shut down, and would be as soon as the last kiln was fired. A telephone message to the pottery elicited the information that they did not care to talk about it.

Married in the West.

Word was received here today that Will Poke, the ever genial proprietor of the Thompson House, had been married while on a visit in the west. The happy pair are now in Chicago, but will be home tomorrow night.

WHAT OF THE FUTURE?

Potters are Wondering and Expecting.

HOW THEY SEE IT IN TRENTON

There May be a Return of the Tariff in December and Smith is Now Arranging For the Amendment—Potters
Taking Advantage of Trade.

The crockery situation is not yet settled as the following to a trade paper from its Trenton correspondent will attest:

"There is little more definiteness to the situation at the potteries than when I last communicated with you. A committee of workmen went to Washington a few days ago for the purpose of urging an amendment to the tariff on pottery so that it would equal the rates of the Wilson bill, but they were assured, as I informed you last week, that there was no quorum in the senate, and the moment an attempt would be made by a senator to talk tariff he would be reminded of its absence. A strong effort to effect the same purpose by President Franzheim, of the Wheeling Pottery company, met with the same result. With a large number of Democratic citizens he went to Washington to see Chairman Wilson, as it had been hinted to them that he was in favor of making a change in the schedule to the figures of the original bill, and understood thoroughly the motives that prompted Senator Smith to cause the reduction to be made. Nothing was effected, owing to the absence of Mr. Mills, although they received considerable encouragement from other members of the ways and means committee. Nothing can be accomplished at this session of congress, but it is reported that some of the Trenton potters have received word from Senator Smith to the effect that in the December session of congress he has assurance from both the senate and house that the duty will be raised. It is proposed to effect this by making a rider on the measure that will be offered to correct the effect of having made alcohol used in the arts free, and by which it is said the door is opened to fraudulent classifications that will cost the government $30,000,000. This measure is sure to be passed, and if Senator Smith can induce his colleagues in the senate to agree to a rider that will put crockery back where the house intended, he will have done what now promises to be a very ruinous stab at the pottery interests."

The New York correspondent to the same paper sees the situation in these words:

"The week has been enlivened by the presence of some of the jobbers of the country who assembled at the Holland House on Thursday and on Friday met some of the importers of crockery. The expressions were many. Some look for a large and elegant fall trade. Others do not look for any. Some present a very optimistic outlook for the near future, others think there is nothing bright to look ahead to. So there you are. The main fact, however, is, that the future is something which no fellow can count on. That the tariff settlement will have at least a soothing effect on all branches of business is conceded by all. No matter how it is settled, so it is settled in some way, is what every business man has been looking and hoping for, for the last six months."

The local situation after a careful canvass among the potteries can be summed in a few words. Every plant in the city is being worked to its best capacity. Some establishments can not fill orders and stock without being employed day and night, and double time is by no means uncommon. Decorators are working hard, and in some potteries are employed until 10 o'clock each night. There is a rush, and the city feels that its every artery is pulsating. The composite conversation of a number of manufacturers shows that they do not know what the future holds, but they are well acquainted with the demands of the present. Every salesman is at work gathering orders, and every order is filled as soon as possible. They do not know how it will be when the importers get their goods well on the market, but having a clearly defined idea that it will be impossible to operate their factories at an advantage they are taking every order that can be found. How long the rush will last is the unknown quantity of this commercial problem, but there are well grounded fears that unless Senator Smith does as he has promised there will be a dullness in trade which will be felt in every pottery of the country.

—Hugh Perrine, left this morning for his home in Bowerston, after a visit with friends in this city.

THE Democratic program for the campaign is to denounce the tariff bill. This course is all well enough when pursued by the fellows who opposed it in congress, but how will it work when men whose votes helped to make it a law stand before the public and condemn their own actions?

DOWN WITH DESTRUCTIONISTS.

The New York Press has the right ring when it editorially puts these words before the people:

"Not satisfied with the disastrous blow aimed by the bourbon tariff bill at the wage earners and industries of America, the wreckers of American industry have not allowed their victims a breathing spell before resuming the work of destruction. They are unwilling to permit a moment's rest to a country exhausted by depression and calamity unexampled in time of peace and rivaling the devastation and misery of war. Even before the measure which menaces with ruin the great wool and woolen, the lumber, salt, tin plate and other industries supporting millions of Americans had reached the president, the wreckers introduced other bills for the destruction of important American interests. Their motto is ruin, their only principle is to avenge on the north the losses which rebellion brought upon the south; and with that object in view no northern industry is to be spared if the Democratic party—the party of destruction—can crush it by any means, however foul and dishonorable.

"Let it be remembered that according to the declarations of the leaders of the Democracy in the house, the bourbon bill which has passed the house is not intended to settle anything. It is only the entering wedge, the opening bombardment, in the assault on American industry, the avowed aim and object of the wreckers being to erase all protection and leave the industrial interests of America prostrate at the mercy of Great Britain. The party of destruction will not halt in its work while any American industry remains to be destroyed—unless the people compel it to halt. Taking its direction and inspiration from the former slave owners of the south, the Democratic party is aiming to reduce to European impoverishment the wage earners of the north, and by the effacement of all protection compel the American workman to compete on equal terms with the over-worked and ill-paid toiler of England and Belgium and the degraded labor of Canada and Cuba. That is what the party of destruction means. Its leaders will not be satisfied with the enormous evil they have wrought. They mean war to the death with American industry, and American industry must accept the challenge or perish. The Republican party must face the party of destruction with unflinching courage, and battle for genuine protection with all the energies at its command. The battle must be aggressive. It will not do to wait for attack. The party of destruction must be met and overwhelmed in the campaign which may be said to have already begun. Down with the party of destruction."

OWNERSHIP OF HOMES.

An Interesting Investigation by the Census Office.

OVER HALF THE PEOPLE RENT.

OF 13,000,152 Families in the Country About 48 Per Cent Own Their Homes and 52 Per Cent Have Incumbrances.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The census office has given to the public the principal results of the investigation of home ownership in all of the states and territories. This is the first investigation of the kind ever conducted in any country. Of the 13,000,152 families in the whole country, almost 48 per cent own their farms and homes and the rest rent. Of the families owning farms and homes, almost 28 per cent have incumbrances, and over 72 per cent have no incumbrances. The number of resident owners of land in the United States is 6,000,417, to which must be added any land owners who may be living in tenant families.

The farm families number 46,767,479, of which 66 per cent own their farms and others rent. Of the owning families over 28 per cent have incumbrances on their farms. In 1880, 25.56 per cent of the farms were rented.

In the cities that contain over 100,000 population, there are 1,948,834 home families, of which almost 33 per cent own and 67 per cent rent, while of the owning families 38 per cent own subject to incumbrance. Among the cities having 100,000 population and over, New York has the highest percentage of home tenancy, nearly 53.6; Boston is next with 51.57 per cent; Brooklyn third with 51.44 per cent; Jersey City fourth with 50.32 per cent, and Cincinnati fifth with 50.32 per cent. The percentage for Baltimore is 52.94; Buffalo, 60.03; Chicago, 71.27; Cleveland, 60.90; Denver, 70.89; Minneapolis, 68.96; St. Louis, 78.51; Philadelphia, 77.24; St. Paul, 79.58; St. Paul, 79.80; San Francisco, 78.46; and Washington, D. C., 74.89. The smallest percentage—50.4—represents Rochester, N. Y.

Bringing the urban population into contrast with the non-urban population, almost 44 per cent of 4,224,500 home families living outside of cities, and towns of 8,000 people, own their homes and 56 per cent hire. Of the owning families 77 per cent own without incumbrance.

The value of the 1,600,800 incumbered farms and homes is $5,587,206,000, and the incumbrances aggregate $2,132,949,563 or 37.50 per cent of the value.

Of the incumbrance on farms and homes over 22 per cent bears interest at rates less than 6 per cent; 34 per cent at the rate of 6 per cent; 33 per cent at rates greater than 6 per cent, and 11 per cent at rates greater than 8 per cent.

The average of value of each owned and incumbered farm in the United States is $3,444; of each incumbered home, $3,250, and the average incumbrance on each of the farms is $1,224, on each incumbered home, 1,293.

The 899,937 farms subject to incumbrance are worth $2,653,374,904 and the incumbrance is $1,049,953,063, or 39.57 per cent of the value.

The cities of 8,000 or 100,000 population have 214,613 incumbered homes occupied by owners worth $739,846,087, with an incumbrance amounting to $302,611,974, which is 39.53 per cent of the value.

In the cities of 100,000 population and over, the value of the 168,159 incumbered homes occupied by owners is $694,191,811, and these homes are incumbered for $303,039,833, or for 43.77 per cent of their value.

In the country outside of cities and towns of 8,000 people and over, the value of the 477,161 incumbered homes occupied by owners is $958,337,000, and the incumbrance is $361,311,795, or 37.70 per cent of the value.

In the cities having at least 100,000 population, 5,535 represents the average value of each owned and incumbered home. New York has the highest value $19,200; San Francisco second with $7,965; Brooklyn third with $7,349; Omaha fourth with $7,179, and Washington fifth with $7,054. The annual charges on each owned and incumbered home in these cities is $134.

The highest amount being $138 in New York, and the lowest amounting $83 in Louisville. Denver has the highest average rate of interest on the incumbrance on owned and incumbered homes, namely, 7.87 per cent, and New Orleans is second with 7.86 per cent; New York has the lowest rate, 4.95 per cent, and Boston stands next with 5.14 per cent.

Over 14 per cent of the incumbrance on owned farms was incurred by buying real estate and making improvements, and over 83 per cent of the incumbrance was for the purpose of buying and improving real estate, investing in business, etc. Over 81 per cent of the incumbrance on homes was incurred to secure purchase money and to make improvements.

DETERMINED COAL OPERATORS.

They Declare They Will Start Mines in the Massillon District.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—The coal operators of the Massillon district have been in session at the Wedell House for the purpose of choosing three mines to be opened and operated with non-union men decline to go to work. The Massillon miners, nearly 4,000 in all, have been since Feb. 17, declining to accept the Columbus agreement and holding out for 70 cents, while the operators will not pay more than 60 cents. One Massillon district company with a mine at Camp Creek has acceded to the 70-cent rate and is working a full force of men. The product, however, is chiefly canned coal. The delegates to the meeting to select three mines to be started. If a sufficient number of men cannot be obtained from the ranks of the old men, the committee will look elsewhere for non-union workmen.

May Succeed From the L. A. W.

CLEVELAND, Aug. 31.—The Cleveland Wheel club is about to take a radical move looking toward secession from the League of American wheelmen. The members state that the reason for the action is that the advantage of membership with the national body are not commensurate with the expenses. The local club has a membership of nearly 200 and is one of the most influential members of the L. A. W. The matter will be formally acted upon at the next general meeting of the club.

ASHTABULA, O., Aug. 31.—Benjamin A. May has been appointed receiver for the Ashtabula Water and Light company. The company, which is incorporated under the laws of West Virginia, was organized on Aug. 1, 1891, bonds being issued at the same time in the sum of $100,000.

Farrell, whose suspension was asked for on the ground that he referred a prize fight and played poker at the camp of a Dayton party, near West Milton, Miami county, Sunday, Aug. 12, was given a trial before the board of police directors and acquitted. The whole procedure was a farce, it being conclusively shown that the alleged prize fight was simply a burlesque.

FIGHTING IN SAMOA.

Germans and English Are Subduing the Rebels.

A BLOODY BATTLE IS FOUGHT.

The Rebel Forces Shelled by Two Warships and a Number Killed and Injured.

King Maitoto's Forces Allied With the Foreigners—The Rebels Traitorous.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The steamer Mariposa, which has arrived from Sydney, Auckland, Apia and Honolulu, brings news of further fighting among the natives of Samoa and forcible interference of British and German warships stationed at Apia.

On Friday, Aug. 30, the British warship Curacoa and the German warship Buzzard left Apia for Latuana. Arriving there the rebel chiefs were called on board the gunboats and informed their stronghold would be bombarded at 9 o'clock the following morning. During Friday night, however, the rebels evacuated the place. On Saturday morning the fortifications were shelled by the warships and all but destroyed. The king's warriors had been sent overland to co-operate with the gunboats in the attack on the rebels and occupied the deserted position.

On Sunday morning the rebels and the king's warriors, who numbered fully 600, came together at Lufilufi. The rebels made an attack and killed and wounded several of King Maitoto's men. During all of Sunday there was desultory fighting and the naval commanders resolved to again attack the rebels and deal with them summarily. Early on Monday morning, Aug. 13, the Curacoa and Buzzard changed their positions and again opened fire on the rebels, killing and injuring a large number. Simultaneously the king's warriors attacked them on shore. In the fight the king lost six killed and several wounded.

On Monday evening the rebels sued for peace. Their chiefs were ordered to come on board the Curacoa on the following day. They obeyed the order and the second day's fighting. The king's warriors, who were ordered to Maitoto's rule, agreed to pay their taxes, return to their homes and to deliver up 100,000 rifles. Immediately after this meeting the Curacoa steamed away to Apia, believing the trouble was over. The Curacoa commander was eager to catch the mail steamer Mariposa that he might report the result of his operations to the British government. The Buzzard remained at the scene of action to receive the rifles from the rebels and see that they carried out their promises.

Great was the surprise of the Commander of the Curacoa when the Buzzard signalled that Chief Tamahe, leader of the Ahna rebels, had joined the Atua party, with over 400 Ahna men, and that these combined forces had attacked the king's warriors. Throughout the night the roar of the Buzzard's guns could be heard. The Curacoa got under way again and left for the scene of the trouble. Captain Gibson left determined to demand complete surrender of the rebels, and unless the rebels are submissive the slaughter will undoubtedly be terrible as his guns will fire to kill.

It is now certain that unless vigorous measure is taken the position of the foreigners here will be critical. At the hour of sailing of the Mariposa it is reported the rebels have made complete surrender, but the rumor lacks confirmation.

SOUTHERN DEVELOPMENT.

A Convention of Representative Men Being Held in Washington.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—The Southern Development convention which is in session in Willard's hall is a gathering of business men, particularly those of the south.

It is an outgrowth of the recent movement fostered by northern and southern business men to provide means for facilitating combinations of capital and energy to develop the great resources of the south.

It is intended by means of this convention to evolve a plan for united action by representatives of all the southern states. It is hoped that it will result in the establishment of a permanent exhibit of southern resources at Washington with an auxiliary bureau in which full information of investments likely to prove advantageous may be recorded, and prospects kept on file with endorsements from trustworthy sources, a bureau which will form a reliable medium between northern capital and the rich fields for development in the south.

The request is made that all newspaper men who expect to visit Pittsburgh during the week of Sept. 9 will communicate with the chairman of the entertainment committee at the club house, 540 Smithfield street.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Aug. 31.—John King, a Breckinridge man, living in Fayette county, met on the highway his old friend, George Cook, who lives in Clark county. Cook said an woman who went to hear Breckinridge speak was no better than a courtesan. King dismounted from his horse, saying his wife and daughters had heard Breckinridge. Cook insisted it was a shame. He also dismounted. Both drew knives and blood flowed freely until Cook dropped, having three stabs in the breast. King has escaped.

CARLISLE REVERSES HIMSELF.

Goods Merely Held in Custody Come Under the New Act.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 31.—Secretary Carlisle, in answer to telegrams from collectors of customs, has sent the following telegram to collectors at all points:

"The department has decided to be governed by the supreme court decision in the case of Hartrant vs. Oliver, 125, United States reports, page 525, which entitles to benefit of new act all imported goods held in customs custody on Aug. 24, 1894, whether unclaimed on board vessel or in process of transportation."

This ruling of the secretary reverses that sent to the collector at Boston last Tuesday, which held that goods must be actually in bond in order to receive the benefits of the reduced rates of the new act.

Heavy Losses From Forest Fires.

BLISS THE FLYER.

He Makes Good Time in Spite of Unfavorable Weather.

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 31.—The world's record for flying mile paced held by Tyler, was given a close call by J. P. Bliss on the Hampden park bicycle track. It was a hard day to try for records. Rain threatened at every moment and the air was very heavy.

Bliss was timed 1:15.34 on the two-thirds; 1:24.35 on three-quarters; 1:53.45 on one mile, which exactly equals the record made by Tyler Aug. 4.

Later he tried again, finishing in the same time. Considering the weather Bliss' performance was a most remarkable one.

GAMES PLAYED YESTERDAY.

The Pittsburghs at Last Take a Game.

Other contests.

BROOKLYN, Aug. 31.—The Brooklyn and Pittsburgh clubs brought their eastern series to a close at Eastern Park, with two games which were witnessed by a large crowd. The first game was a sort of a easy you case affair. The Brooklyn had lots of fun with Gumbert's curves in the first three innings. In the fifth inning the Pirates landed on Lucid's eyes for eight runs. Kennedy went to the fifth inning. Gumbert was all but knocked out in the fifth but Manager Buckenbarger made him take his medicine.

The second game did not prove such an easy one for the home team. In fact the visitors won it though through their timely hitting in the first five innings. Daub was taken out of the box in the fifth inning and Underwood substituted. Menefee pitched a strong game. After the Pirates had scored five times in the second inning and only two were out, Empire Kiefe killed the game off on account of darkness. Score reverted to a tie in the sixth. Attendance, 3,329. PRETTY BUT VERY BAD.

Vanderbilt's Charming Has a Checkered Career.

RICH MEN HER FOLLOWERS.

Wagon Manufacturer Studebaker Took Her to Europe—D. O. Mills' Nephew Her First Victim—Kicked Out of a Paris Hotel—She's From the Pacific Coast.

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 31.—The news that Nettie Neustetter, or Neustalder, as she spelled her name here, was a San Francisco woman, has greatly aroused the interest in Mr. Vanderbilt's love affairs. The people with whom she used to associate while here say she is a thoroughbred and is fully capable of leading Mr. Vanderbilt as lively a pace as he may desire and his wealth justify. Her faculty for spending money is regarded as remarkable, even in this city of liberal ideas, and the fact set of San Francisco could not keep up with her. Nettie dazzled them with her splendor until her money gave out and then she went east for more.

According to the story printed in a local paper, after her return to Eureka, Nev., from Mills' seminary, her beauty and dashing manner captured the little town and also the heart of Frank Mills, a nephew of D. O. Mills. Young Mills was very devoted in his attentions, and in order to stop the affair, Nettie's parents sent her to San Francisco. She was then 18 years old and seemed to care for nothing but to have a good time.

Later she married Ben Cohen, a cigar drummer, and settled down for a time, but as her husband was away from home a good deal she again kicked over the moral traces. One day she told her husband she was going to New York to visit relatives. She landed in Gotham with Laura Edelman of Los Angeles, one of the most beautiful women in Southern California and together they had a swift time of it. Cohen, after vainly trying to get her to return to him, got a divorce. Nettie was then left to her own devices. She was so charming and such a good companion that even in the mighty firmament of New York she shone with unusual brilliancy. She captured the heart of Studebaker, the millionaire wagon manufacturer, and he gave her a sumptuous flat, bought her a carriage and horses and gave her servants and all the money she wanted.

In 1889 he took her to Europe and she traveled like a princess. Everything she had was of the best, and when she returned she possessed a wardrobe from Worth's and jewelry that had sparkled in the shops of the leading houses of Paris and London. Nettie began to bank her money after her old home. She returned to San Francisco and took rooms at the Palace hotel, dressed better than any woman in town, wore thousands of dollars worth of gems and spent money as freely as if she had an unlimited letter of credit on the United States mint. The trouble was the money kept going out and none coming in, so Nettie had to turn eastward again. She took with her as companion Jessie Whiting

FROM THE RANKS.

BY CAPT. CHARLES KING.

When morning came, the order that they should go was temporarily suspended. Some prisoners were sent to a neighboring military prison, and he was placed in charge, and on his return from this duty learned that the colonel's family had gone to Sablon. The next thing there was some strange talk that worried him—a story that one of the men who had a sweetheart who was second girl at Mrs. Hoyt's brought out to camp—a story that there was an officer who was too much in love with Alice to keep away from the house even after the colonel so ordered, and that he was peering around the other night, and the colonel ordered Leary to shoot him—Leary, who was on post on No. 5. He felt sure that something was wrong—felt sure that it was due to his night visit—and his first impulse was to find his mother and confide the truth to her. He longed to see her again, and if harm had been done to make himself known and explain everything. Having no duties to detain him, he got a pass to visit town and permission to be gone a day or more. On Saturday evening he ran down to Sablon, drove over, as Captain Armitage had already told them, and peering in his mother's room saw her, still up, though in her nightdress. He never dreamed of the colonel's being out and watching. He had "scouted" all those trees, and no one was night. Then he softly called. She heard and was coming to him, when again came fierce attack. He had all a soldier's reverence for the person of the colonel and would never have harmed him had he known 'twas he. It was the night watchman that had grappled with him, he supposed, and he had no compunctions in sending him to grass. Then he fled again, knowing that he had only made bad worse, walked all that night to the station next north of Sablon—a big town, where the early morning train always stopped—and by 10 on Sunday morning he was in uniform again and off with his regimental comrades under orders to haste to their station—there was trouble with the Indians at Spirit Rock, and the—th were held in readiness. From beneath his scouting shirt he drew a flat packet, an Indian case, which he carefully unrolled, and there in its folds of wrappings was the lovely directorio photograph.

Whose, then, was the one that Sloat had seen in Jerrold's room? It was that that Armitage had gone forward to determine, and he found his sad-eyed lieutenant with the skirmishers. "Jerrold," said he, with softened manner, "a strange thing is brought to light this morning, and I lose no time in telling you. The man who was seen at Maynard's quarters, coming from Miss Renwick's room, was her own brother and the colonel's stepson. He was the man who took the photograph from Mrs. Maynard's room and has proved it this very day, this very hour." Jerrold glanced up in sudden surprise. "He is with us now, and only one thing remains, which you can clear up. We are going into action, and I may not get through, nor you, nor—whoknows who. Will you tell us now how you came by your copy of that photograph?"

For answer Jerrold fumbled in his pocket a moment and drew forth two letters. "I wrote these last night, and it was my intention to see that you had them before it grew very hot. One is addressed to you, the other to Miss Beaubien. You had better take them now," he said wearily. "There may be no time to talk after this. Send hers after it's over, and don't read yours until then."

"Why, I don't understand this exactly," said Armitage, puzzled. "Can't you tell me about the picture?" "No, I promised not to while I lived, but it's the simplest matter in the world, and no one at the colonel's had a hand in it. They never saw this one that I got to show Sloat. It is burned now. I said 'twas given me. That was hardly the truth. I have paid for it dearly enough."

"And this note explains it?" "Yes, you can read it tomorrow."

CHAPTER XIX.

And the morning has come. Down in a deep and bluff shadowed valley, hung all around with picturesque crags and pine crested heights, under a cloudless September sun, whose warmth is tempered by the mountain breeze, a thousand rough looking, bronzed and bearded and powdered blackened men are resting after battle.

Here and there on distant ridge and point the cavalry detachments keep vigilant watch against surprise or renewed attack. Down along the banks of a clear, purling stream a sentry paces slowly by the brown line of rifles, swivel stacked in the sunshine. Men by the dozen are washing their blistered feet and grimy hands and faces in the cool, refreshing water; men by the dozen lie soundly sleeping, some in the broad glare, some in the shade of the little clump of willows, all heedless of the pestering swarms of flies. Out on the broad, grassy slopes, side lined and watched by keen-eyed guards, the herds of cavalry horses are quietly grazing, forgetful of the wild excitement of yesterday. Every now and then some one of them lifts his head, pricks up his ears and snorts and stamps suspiciously as he sniffs at the puffs of smoke that come the gallant fight that had been made, and women were weeping for joy and thanking God that those whom they held dearest were safe. It was down among the wives of the sergeants and other veterans that the blow struck hardest at Sibley, for the stricken officers were unmarried men, while among the rank and file there were several who never came back to the little ones who bore their name. Company B had suffered most, for the Indians had charged fiercely on its deployed but steadfast line, Armitage almost choked and broke down when telling the colonel about it that night as he lay under the willows. "It was the first smile I had seen on his face since I got back—that with which he looked up in my eyes and whispered goodby—and died, just after we drove them back. My turn came later." Old Sloat, too, "had his customary crack," as he expressed it—a shot through the wrist that made him hop and swear savagely until some of the men got to laughing at the comical figure he cut, and then he turned and damned them with hearty good will and seemed all oblivious of the bullets that went zipping past his frosting head. Young Rollins, to his inexpressible pride and comfort, had a bullet hole through his shoulder strap that raised a big welt on the white skin beneath, but to the detriment of promotion, no captain was killed, and Jerrold gave the only file.

The one question at Sibley was, What will Nina Beaubien do?

The President at Gray Gables.

BUZZARD'S BAY, Mass., Aug. 31.—President Cleveland has arrived here. Mrs. Cleveland was down at the wharf to meet the president and the reunion of husband and wife was most affectionate. Miss M. A. Farrell will open tomorrow afternoon in the Kirk block, Fifth street, the handsomest line of fall hats and millinery ever seen in the city. A fashionable trimmer, one who has had experience in the centers of fashion, will look after the wants of customers, and satisfaction is guaranteed. Miss Farrell extends a cordial invitation for her many friends to call and see the display, soliciting their patronage. The line of pattern hats is complete containing fashionable shapes trimmed to the very letter of style.

Kenneth Bazemore had the good fortune to receive a small bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy when three members of his family were sick with dysentery. This one small bottle cured them all and he had some left which he gave to Geo. W. Baker, a prominent merchant of the place, Lewistown, N. C., and it cured him of the same complaint. When troubled with dysentery, diarrhoea, colic or cholera morbus, give this remedy a trial and you will be more than pleased with the result. The praise that naturally follows its introduction and use has made it very popular. 25 and 50 cents bottles for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

Postponed Meeting.

Superintendent Sanor has postponed the teachers' meeting, which should have taken place this week until Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All are expected to be present at that time.

My boy was taken with a disease resembling bloody flux. The first thing I thought of was Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy. Two doses of it settled the matter and cured him sound and well. I heartily recommend this remedy to all persons suffering from a like complaint. I will answer any inquiries regarding it when stamp is inclosed. I refer to any county official as to my reliability. Wm. Roach, J. P. Peimroy, Campbell Co., Tenn. For sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

A Festival.

A festival will be given Saturday night at the Second Presbyterian church East End. No admission will be charged and the public is invited.

"I know an old soldier who had chronic diarrhoea of long standing to have been permanently cured by taking Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea remedy," says Edward Shumpik, a prominent druggist of Minneapolis, Minn. "I have sold the remedy in this city for over seven years and consider it superior to any other medicine now on the market for bowel complaints." 25 and 50 cent bottles of this remedy for sale by A. H. Bulger, druggist.

He was driving the trotting mares, Agnes and Panonia, when they took fright at some small boys at the top of the hill near the fair grounds and ran to the lower end of town and then out the Salem road about two miles. The horses were badly skinned up, likewise Charley, though no bones were broken.

STRIKE COMMISSION ADJOURNS.

It Will Meet in Washington Sept. 26. Howard in Rebuttal.

CHICAGO, Aug. 31.—The government strike commission has adjourned to meet in Washington, Sept. 26.
Contrary to expectations, before adjourning, the commission heard considerable testimony in rebuttal. The principal witness was Vice President Howard of the American Railway union. Mr. Howard denied that he had advised violence and declared that he had always counseled moderation and denounced lawlessness. His only remarks of an "incendiary" nature, he said, was the advice he had given the men to use coupling pins on American Protective association representatives or any other similar class of people who might endeavor to stir up trouble in the union on a basis of differences in religion. He denounced the American Protective association and explained how emissaries of the corporations had frequently endeavored to foment dissensions in labor organizations on account of religion.

Mayor Hopkins testified at some length regarding the attitude of the police during the strike. He declared that they had done their duty at all times. He frankly acknowledged that he was in sympathy with the striking employees of the Pullman company, as he had been an employee of the company and knew what the men had to endure.

Wanted to Kill Stoll.

New York, Aug. 31.—Edward Stoll, a supposed lunatic who proposes to kill Mr. Stoll, the papal delegate, has been arraigned in the Harlem police court and sent to Bellevue hospital. Stoll is a wild-looking man and appears to be suffering from alcoholic mania. He is well dressed and fairly intelligent. A policeman arrested him on the Kings Bridge road last night, where he was shouting, "Kill him, kill him," and making lunges at some imaginary object. At the police station the prisoner, who wore no shoes, said that he formerly kept a saloon at Meadville, Pa.
